

B. P. W. Surveys Married Working Women of State

The survey of the married woman worker which is being carried on in Alabama, under the direction of the Alabama Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs will reach a new stage by March 1. On that date the local clubs will have collected their material and it will be in the hands of the state committee for compiling.

Some interesting facts have already come to light. For example: Alabama has only two laws regarding the employment of women. One says that they may not work in coal mines and the other says that department stores must provide seats for clerks. It does not say that the clerks must be allowed to use the seats provided.

At the national headquarters, the material is being assembled under a plan to show "The Position of Married Women in the Economic World." When completed, it is hoped the set-up will answer such questions as:

Does the employment of married women lower the birth rate, increase infant mortality, increase divorces, cause the break-up of homes?

Will a law denying to married women the right to work weaken our democratic system, increase relief, give jobs to the unemployed men and single women, increase the number of marriages?

This study is being made by the National Business and Professional Women's Club for the purpose of protecting the right of married women to work.

Last Chance To Apply For Disaster Loan

The Disaster Loan Corporation is making a last effort to reach any farmer who suffered a loss last year during the heavy rains, and wishing to make a loan to finance this year's crop. Applications are taken from land owners, tenants, and sharecroppers. Anyone wishing a loan should come at an early date, as it requires about two weeks for the applications to be approved.

Over two hundred applications have been made for Shelby County farmers. This is a very liberal loan, bearing interest at only 3 per cent, beginning four months from date of note.

To make application, see David Norwood at the courthouse in Columbiana.

GEORGE BOWDEN INJURED

Friends of Mr. George Bowden, former resident of Montevallo, will be sorry to hear that he was injured last week when the support of a truck on which he was working gave way, causing it to fall on his hips and legs. Mr. Bowden was first carried to the hospital at Clanton, but was transferred later to the Veterans Hospital in Tuscaloosa. He is an employee of the Fore Motor Company of Clanton.

High School Senior Class To Present "The Youngest"

"The Youngest," the senior class play of Montevallo High School, directed by Miss Elizabeth Utterback, is to be produced March 13 in Palmer Auditorium at 8 o'clock.

"The Youngest," by Philip Barry, is a three-act comedy having run two successful seasons on Broadway. It is an ingenious variation of a Cinderella theme, in which the hero, a downtrodden son, comes into contact with a charming busybody. "The Youngest" eventually learns to assert himself, and turns upon his oppressors in a splendid style. "The Youngest" is a very human and appealing comedy in contemporary American life.

The cast includes Mrs. Winslow, Eloise Shores; Oliver Winslow, Bobby Cleary; Mark Winslow, Brewer Carpenter; Augusta Winslow Martin, Louise Lovelady; Alan Martin, Julian Hill; Martha (Muff) Winslow, Gertrude Kirkley; Richard Winslow, John Orr; Nancy Blake, Anne Appleton; Katie, Sara Nell Stockdale.

All Senior III students are included in the play in some capacity. Jimmy Wyatt has been chosen business manager; Francis Peterson is chairman of the poster committee; Frances Bailey is advertising manager. Mary Elizabeth Ingram and Genny McClendon are the head ushers. All the other girls will be ushers.

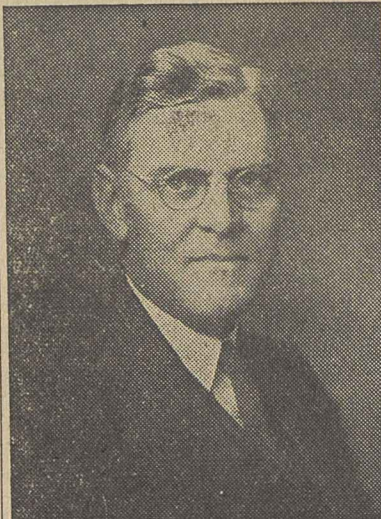

A student orchestra composed of members of the senior class under the direction of Mrs. Josephine Waller will furnish music for the production.

COMMUNITY PARTY

The third community get-together party will be held next Saturday night at Montevallo High School.

With the prospects for better weather it is hoped that more people from the rural communities may be able to attend.

Special request is made for attendance of all singers, musicians, and entertainers who may be able to present a number on the program. Those who came to the other meetings are urged to come back and bring someone with them.

DR. JOHN W. DECKER

Home Study Service Provides Books

Best sellers of the moment and classics, whose popularity time has proven, are on the extensive list of books to be had by Alabama people for the asking from Alabama College's Home Study Service, in a newly announced arm of the program this office carries on. Directed by Dr. J. I. Riddle, Home Study Service will send such popular favorites as "Grapes of Wrath," "Wickford Point," and "Inside Germany" to any club or individual in the state. Except for four cents per volume used as postage, no charge of any kind is made by Alabama College for this service.

The books are loaned for two-week periods. Persons in communities too small to have established libraries derive particular benefit from this phase of the Alabama College Home Study Service.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

"Counterfeit Religion" is the subject of the sermon by Rev. Thomas M. Davis at the Sunday morning service. Sunday School will meet at 10 o'clock and the Presbyterian Student Association at 7 p.m. for a candlelight service consisting of religious poetry and appropriate organ music.

Baptist Leader To Speak At Local Church

Dr. John W. Decker, Foreign Mission Secretary, to Conduct Inspirational Services Here

Dr. John W. Decker, one of the country's outstanding Baptist ministers, will be the guest of Alabama College and the local Baptist Church when he speaks at an extraordinary convocation in connection with several other appearances in Montevallo and on the campus.

Dr. Decker is appearing here under sponsorship of the Y. W. C. A. He has had a distinguished career in the ministry and as missionary in the Far East. He spent the period between 1921-1934 in China, and since 1934 has been foreign secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Mission Association of the Northern Baptist Convention. He is a former director of the Universities of Shanghai and Nanking.

He recently made the perilous automobile trip from India into China along the New Burma Road, which is now known as the "back door" of China.

Dr. Decker's addresses at the college and at the local Baptist Church will be of an inspirational nature.

The subjects for his talks: Sunday morning for the church service—"Christ at Work in a Shaken World." Vespers service—"A Golden Thread Through a Sombre Fabric." For convocation—"The Sino-Japanese Struggle: Retrospect and Prospect."

Civic Club Discusses Maternity Deaths

The regular meeting the Montevallo Civic Club was held Wednesday at the Methodist Church. Attendance was good.

A request was received from the Business and Professional Women's Club, asking that the Civic Club cooperate by financial assistance in the movement the ladies are sponsoring to bring a specialist from Holland's Magazine to Montevallo to study and recommend toward community planning and beautification. The matter was referred to the Board of Control.

The program of the meeting consisted of a discussion of the local maternity welfare clinic which is sponsored by the Montevallo Study Club.

Mrs. W. F. Tidwell discussed the program from the standpoint of its sponsorship by the club women. Dr. J. I. Reid talked about the doctor's side of the subject. The facts presented and discussed evoked great interest, and raised the question: Since maternity welfare and birth regulation is apparently so glaringly important, why should we not have a more widespread and systematic study of the subject?

J. R. Simpson Is Agent For Hospital Insurance

Mr. J. R. Simpson represents the Commercial Casualty Insurance Company. He can now write complete hospitalization and physician's service protection. He calls your attention to the fact that he can now write one person or an entire family and no group requirements are necessary. Mr. Simpson has had numerous inquiries for hospitalization protection, but heretofore has been unable to give his clients this complete protection, due to strict hospitalization requirements. See his advertisement in this issue of The Times. He invites you to permit him to explain in detail.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Duran of Montgomery spent a while Sunday with their mother, Mrs. Lena Duran.

Argentinita And Her Spanish Dancers Appear in Palmer Hall Friday Night

Argentinita, Spain's most celebrated woman dancer, will bring her Spanish ensemble of guitarists and experts in the folk dances of old Spain to Palmer Auditorium at 815 p.m., Thursday, March 8.

In its first American tour the Argentinita company has been receiving the acclaim of critics from coast to coast who find something new and exciting in the predominantly gay atmosphere of the Spanish dancers. Time Magazine, in a write-up several weeks ago, compared the finger-snapping, vivacious Argentinita to Gene Krupa for her castanet playing, and to Bill Robinson for her foot-work.

Of peasant stock, Argentinita is able to present with complete understanding the native dances of every section of Spain. In the course of a single program she becomes in turn a high-caste Castilian lady, a gypsy, or even a Peruvian Indian. Carlos Montoya, guitarist, plays on the stage in close collaboration with the dancers. He is a solo artist and one of the world's recognized masters on the guitar. He is able to make ten fingers work like a hundred in a breath-taking cataract of Spanish rhythms.

HERE'S THE QUESTION

It is no trouble to see how or why a number of worthy and aspiring young men should desire to be elected to Congress. But it is beyond the ability of this editor to figure how they are going about the task of convincing us that we should turn Pete Jarman down and give the job to one of them. They may have some "argument," but we doubt if it can go much deeper than the personal desire of an "out" to get in. We want to see the fellow who can prove that it is better for the Sixth District to turn Pete down and put any new man in his place. We don't believe such an argument can be proved. And we do not believe the people of the District will do it.

ALREADY ELECTED

Shelby County's "favorite sons" in local political circles are already elected. It is "all over but the shouting" with Len Walker, candidate for Probate Judge, and Wales Wallace, candidate for Circuit Judge.

No one has entered the race against them, and the day for entry of candidates is passed.

For these two distinctly worthy officials the situation is just as we hoped and expected. We couldn't have found men any better qualified or more deserving than Judge Walker and Judge Wallace. So, why waste time trying?

We congratulate Judge Walker and Judge Wallace upon the fine record they have made—a record that so satisfies their constituents that no semblance of opposition is offered to them for continued service.

In the same category with our two local judges, The Times notes a close personal friend of the state bench, Judge Charles R. Bricken, of the Court of Appeals. Judge Bricken also will have his place again without opposition, just as he has done heretofore.

It is indeed noteworthy that a county or district official continues in office without opposition. And when a state official chalks up a record like that time after time—well, that is something "shore-nuff."

We are especially glad that Judge Bricken will not have to worry about getting reelected, for we know how awfully much a political campaign right now would interfere with his fishing. Next to being one of Alabama's best judges, Sir Bricken is also one of our best fishermen. And we submit that a man who is a good fisherman is also good in most any other way.

THIS friendly woman is a member of our lighting staff, which includes among its members 20 women and 20 men, all of whom have been trained to know what good lighting is for the home, store, office, factory, school or church. Their duty is to impart their knowledge to our customers, so that each may be given the opportunity to have the best in lighting.

Good lighting need not be expensive. Often a lighting representative is able to make a suggestion that results in an improvement in the quality of light for a customer without his having to buy any equipment or greatly increase the amount of current used. At other times, a minor expenditure can transform a dingy-looking, poorly-lighted room or store into a cheerful-looking, well-lighted one.

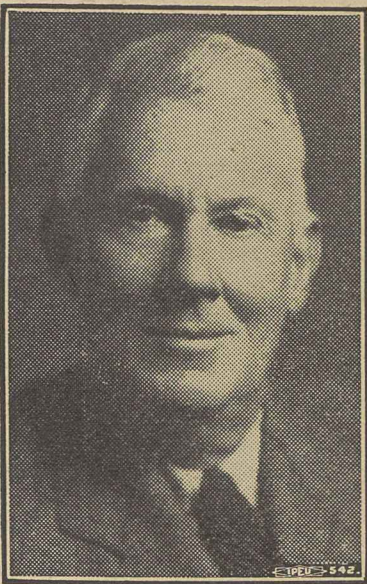

The services of our lighting representatives are available to our customers without charge. We employ them to help our customers get the full benefit of electric lighting as economically as possible. They are qualified to discuss home, commercial, institutional, industrial and decorative lighting. A request to our nearest office will result in a visit from one of them the next time he or she is in your neighborhood.

Billy Partlow "Fires Opening Gun"

Speaking to overflow crowds in Centreville and Marion last week, W. D. (Billy) Partlow, Jr., fired the opening guns in his campaign for Congress.

In a militant speech Partlow demanded that we fight to maintain the reforms and preserve the progress made under the humanitarian program of Franklin D. Roosevelt. To enthusiastic crowds of attentive listeners Partlow spoke of the problems confronting the Sixth District and the South.

In a frank discussion of these problems he pointed out that the major problem was that of poverty—that in the section with the richest natural resources the people of the South have the lowest per capita income. Among the contributing causes of this poverty, Partlow said, was the failure to guarantee to the farmer true parity between industry and agriculture. Advocating the extension of parity payments until the effects of reciprocal trade agreements and lowered tariffs have had the opportunity to insure permanent parity, Partlow said, "It is my belief that if the farm income of this country can be raised to 14 billion dollars a year, the national income will inevitably rise to ninety billions annually—a level which insures the prosperity of all our people."

Decrying war as an instrument of national policy, Partlow pointed out that the surest protection against our becoming embroiled in a foreign war was the maintenance of an adequate defensive armament, but he insisted that such an armament must not be maintained at the expense of our farm program, education or the program for human welfare.

After being introduced by Judge John Miller, Mr. Partlow made a campaign speech that was singularly free from personalities and confined itself solely to political issues. At the conclusion of his speech in both Centreville and Marion the large crowds gave him a tremendous ovation.

Mr. Partlow, a prominent Tuscaloosa attorney, is making his first bid for public office. He is opposed by Pete Jarman, the incumbent, Emmett Hildreth, and Thomas H. Maxwell. He is the son of Dr. W. D. Partlow, superintendent of the Alabama State Hospitals.

Crippled Children Society Reviews Work of the Past

The Shelby County Society for Crippled Children held its first annual luncheon at the Curlee Cafe in Columbiana on March 6. The meeting was devoted entirely to a review of what the society has done in the past, together with plans for the annual drive for funds this year commencing on the date of the banquet and ending on Easter.

Chairman Harris M. Gordon of Columbiana presided over the meet and presented Mrs. Percy Walburn, secretary of the society, and also director of public welfare in Shelby County. Mrs. Walburn furnished statistics of the amounts of funds raised by the Shelby County unit and also the number of crippled children treated in 1939 through efforts of the society. She pointed out that the society raised around four hundred and fifty dollars last year and the Crippled Childrens Service treated in return 28 children, spending over $3,000.00, all of the children being residents of Shelby County.

Mr. W. P. Snuggs, supervisor, Vocational Rehabilitation Service, of Birmingham, made a very interesting talk before the society, telling the members of the work of the Alabama Society for Crippled Children, of which the Shelby County unit is a part. His enthusiastic suggestions were discussed and immediately adopted by the society.

Some twenty-five members of the society were present at the luncheon, every center in the county being represented. Mr. Gordon stated that he sincerely regretted that all who were invited could not attend. He stated further that the society had hopes of raising $750 this year.

Elementary School News

The first graders wanted to make their room attractive. Three see-saws and a slide were made and Mother Goose characters were painted on the see-saws. Two book cases and a game rack were made, also Chinese and American checker boards. Screens were made from large cardboard boxes and pictures were painted on them. Pictures, flowers, goldfish, and a canary were added. At the present time they are working on a doll house.

The second graders are quite busy making kites for a kite tournament to be held Friday, March 8.

The fourth grade gave the following program illustrating some activity work they had just completed:

Song—"In Wooden Shoes."

Story—"Little Dutch Tulip Girl," Coleen Danner.

Poem—"The Windmill," Dorothy Davenport.

Picture—"The Windmill," Kelly Robinson.

Song—"The Windmill." In their song, the children acted the parts of Flying Dutchman, flying kites, games, skating, leak in the dike, etc. The following words were printed on cards and the meaning of the words given by the child holding the card: Transportation, industry, Netherlands, market, commodity, import, export, national,

Song—"In an Old Dutch Garden."

Dance—Dutch dances by the grade. The stage was decorated with houses, windmills, sailboats, dog carts, etc., made by the children. This program was given as a chapel program in the high school auditorium.

The present sixth grade is so large it was necessary to move to a larger room. Much time has been spent discussing and planning how the room can be made more attractive. The walls were cleaned, windows washed and all unnecessary objects removed. At Thanksgiving the elementary school gave a program to make some money for improvements. The sixth grade's share of this money was spent for window panes to replace those that had been broken. The boards were slatted. The next step would be tinting the walls and ceiling, but since the elementary schools will close so soon that may have to be left to the next sixth grade.

Twenty-five or more books have been added to the sixth grade library, and the grade enjoys them very much.

Eleven Gifts Made To Finnish Relief

Once again your attention is called to this fund and to the urgent need of those who will benefit from it. Surely we look with greatest admiration upon the courage and skill of the Finnish soldiers who are fighting a noble battle for freedom and righteousness, and our hearts go out in deepest sympathy to the women and children whose suffering is beyond our understanding. We are called upon to share in a small way the abundance of our material blessings. Surely we can do no less.

At the present time only eleven people in Montevallo have given to the fund through the local organization. A few had sent contributions to Birmingham before the local organization was formed. There must be others who desire to give to this worthy cause. We have not yet given half the amount expected of Montevallo. Please do your part—now!

Here is the report of the fund at present:

Miss Dawn Kennedy	5.00
Miss Leah Dennis	3.00

Montevallo Alumni of University of Chicago Gather In Reunion

Monday evening the Montevallo alumni of the University of Chicago had a most enjoyable reunion. Special guests from Thorsby were Mrs. Jenkins, '11, and her daughter. The film, "Midway Memories," a collection of pictures from as far back as 1904, brought back many moving recollections as familiar scenes and personages came to the screen. Presidents Harper, Judson, and Burton, Thornton Wilder, Jimmy Twohig, James Weber Linn were among the well known and beloved faces that were shown.

An electrical transcription brought the voice of President Hutchins as he was interviewed by alumnus Clifton Utley as to the state of the university, its educational program, and its future. Many in the audience had never had the pleasure of meeting President Hutchins, so it was a special privilege to see him on the screen, catch something of his magnetic personality, and hear him outlining his program for the university.

Over the coffee cups informal discussion grew confidential. Stories were exchanged of student days at Chicago. Many a tribute was paid to the great scholars of the university, not only because of their outstanding ability, but also because of the significant influence of these men in the lives of their students. One after another heartily endorsed the new program of the university and unhesitatingly expressed faith that the University of Chicago would continue to be a great pioneering force and leader in American scholarship.

Before adjourning plans were discussed for a University of Chicago dinner to be held in the near future.

Let us decide honestly what we can do, and then do it with all our might.—Amelia D. Barr.

Every man feels instinctively that all the beautiful sentiments in the world weigh less than a single lovely action.—James Russell Lowell.

I must do something to keep my thoughts fresh and growing.—James A. Garfield.

Culbreth Leader In Youth Crusade March 13 and 14

With the Rev. Dr. J. Marvin Culbreth, of Chapel Hill, N. C., as guest leader, Alabama College will be the scene of a Youth Crusade college mission, March 13 and 14, according to the Rev. John M. Shores, pastor of the Methodist Church, who is cooperating with college and Youth Crusade officials in putting on the mission.

Dr. Culbreth, who is widely known for his successful work among college and university students, and who has achieved prominence as pastor and author, is pastor of University Methodist Church at Chapel Hill, seat of the University of North Carolina. A native of North Carolina, Dr. Culbreth is a graduate of Duke University and of Vanderbilt University, where he received his bachelor of divinity degree. He was awarded the doctor of divinity degree by Southwestern University at Georgetown, Texas. Formerly associated with young people's work of his denomination, Dr. Culbreth was for a number of years connected with the Epworth League board and later with the general board of education of the former Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Open for Interviews

While at Montevallo, Dr. Culbreth will be available to students for personal interviews on religious and vocational problems. He will speak at the college chapel hour and probably at an evening gathering.

The college mission here is one of a series of approximately 100 to be held on campuses of state and church institutions of learning during February, March and April as

GIRL SCOUTS

Troop 2

Troop 2 of the Montevallo Girl Scouts held its regular meeting Monday afternoon at the Little House.

While Sara Henry Reynolds' patrol made preparations for the skit they were were to give later in the afternoon, a small group of girls played Chinese checkers and others read or played the piano.

Sara Henry Reynolds' patrol gave a very interesting dramatization of the Girl Scout laws. Afterwards they served refreshments to the other patrols. Next week Mary Jean Kennerly's patrol will give a stunt.

Miss Saylor helped the girls learn a new folk dance and Frances Nybeck and Pat Weems, from the senior troop, came for this part of the program.

Miss Palmer, captain, and the following girls were present: Mary Jean Kennerly, Julia Rogan, Ann Davis, Sara Henry Reynolds, Tootsie Clayton, Alice Ray Clemmons, Frances Woods, Virginia Barnes, and Dama Wills.

Troop 3

The elementary and high schools were given a beautiful flag of the United States on Friday, March 1. It was presented by the American Legion Auxiliary. Mr. Wyatt, who is commander of the post, made a short talk, and Mrs. M. P. Jeter, Americanism chairman, presented the flag. Alice Creel, member of Troop 3, accepted it for the elementary school.

The Girl Scout color guards were Betty Pendleton, Mildred Wooten, and Marjorie Shores. The Boy Scout color guard was Fouts Parnell. When the flag was raised they had the pledge of allegiance and thirty seconds of silent prayer for the World War dead. Then Mrs. Frost who is state chaplain, led them in prayer. The schools are very proud of the flag.

The second class Scouts who are working on their first class ranks decided to work on the hostess badge first. Alice Creel and Mildred Wooten have already completed theirs. We are anxious to have more first class scouts.

The appearance of the Little House looks much better since we have the pretty new shutters up. We would like to have you visit the Little House any time.

In the library of the Little House we have seven Girl Scout Handbooks which you may check out to help you with your ranks and badges.

part of the general Youth Crusade and the Methodist Advance movements of the Methodist Church. However, it is stated, the missions are non-sectarian and are for the purpose of reaching young people with the Christian message in terms of their own experience and needs. Some of the objectives of the movement, according to leaders here, are to foster church loyalty; to enlist youth in efforts for community service and for world peace.

Dr. Brown to Assist

Dr. Harvey C. Brown, of Nashville, Tenn., director of the Methodist Student Movement in the board of Christian education in the former Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is directing the college missions in cooperation with presidents and professors of religion in state and church institutions of learning and Youth Crusade officials, among whom are Bishop Paul B. Kern, the Rev. Walter Towner, and the Rev. Paul Worley, of Nashville.

NEW DEMONSTRATION PROGRAM LAUNCHED

Auburn, Ala.—Complete farm and home demonstrations, in which all phases of the extension service program will be carried out by the entire family, are being set up in 15 counties of Alabama, announces P. O. Davis, director of the Alabama Extension Service. This program, will be enlarged in later years, he said.

Counties in which these demonstrations will be conducted during 1940 are Cherokee, Calhoun, DeKalb, Limestone, Colbert, Chambers, Shelby, Pike, Dale, Covington, Tuscaloosa, Washington, Greene, Mobile, and Butler.

"The Extension Service has carried different demonstrations of improved farm and home practices on many farms. The new plan is to get all practices into use on one farm with the farmer, his wife, sons and daughters taking part in the work," Mr. Davis said. He added that he believes farming and farm living can be improved by these demonstrations through which a number of improved practices are adopted.

If you wish success in life, make perseverance your bosom friend, experience your wise counsellor, caution your elder brother, and hope your guardian genius.—Addison.

Helena School News

The first graders are buying and selling in the store in the room. They are selling and buying candy to get a new pencil sharpener.

We have some pretty spring flowers in our room. Our pansies were planted in the fall in cans and are growing.

The second graders are studying about birds. Last week our group went on a bird walk back of the school. We saw redbirds, robins, and sparrows. Many birds haven't come back. We are going to look for them. We will build houses for our feathered friends.

On our trip we got some buds and put them in water to watch the leaves come out.

We are making rabbit eggs and chickens for an Easter border on our blackboard.

The sixth graders are still enjoying our "European War — 1939" scrapbook, especially the chapter of pictures, "War Gallery." As we study different European countries discussions about probable changes of the map sometimes grow animated with arguments pro and con backed by whatever has been read in the papers or heard on the radio.

The boys plan to complete and paint our book racks and flower stands made of scrap lumber.

The girls have enjoyed making original health posters recently.

The fifth graders are touring in Holland via pictures. Attractive Dutch scenes brighten our room. We are enjoying drawing and things we study about this interesting country.

In the seventh grade we have two girls and one boy who have not been absent a day this school year. They are Agnes Bunch, Ruth Kite and Joe Espey.

In the eighth grade we have just completed some interesting illustrated maps crayoned on cloth. We are working on spring flower pictures and soap carving now.

A record crowd attended the play, "A Readymade Family," given by our Jr. III class recently. Our play was directed by Miss Ruby Wharton, our home room teacher.

THESE TEN YEARS

(By Dr. Fred B. Pearson)

This week the pastor is completing ten years of service in this church. As this is the last Sunday of the ten-year period, he feels it fitting to say certain things to the church and is taking the opportunity of saying some of them through the bulletin.

These years for us, as for all the world, have brought both sunshine and shadows, hope and despair, glad surprise and bitter disappointment, defeat and victory. Through it all, God has been good and friends have been most gracious and kind. The pastor would express for himself and his family thanks to God for His grace and tender care, and sincere gratitude to the good people of Montevallo for the kindness and love they have so freely given.

Many changes have come in the church and community during these ten years. Death or some other trial has brought poignant sorrow into almost every home in Montevallo. The church has sustained irreparable loss in the home-going of a number of its most devoted and useful members. Many have moved away and others have come. The church and community are not the same today as ten years ago.

There have been many failures on the part of all. None of us has done his best. Both pastor and people may well bow in repentance and contrition, in rededication to Christ, in renewed devotion to the church. It is the pastor's prayer that every one may do so now.

God has been merciful and has caused His grace to abound. Despite our unfaithfulness, the depression, and all hindering conditions, the church has made steady progress along many lines, as certain facts will show. 1939 was the best year of the ten in many ways.

During these ten years there have been 578 additions to the church, an average of 57.9 per year. 1939 showed the largest increase—93, 17 by baptism. The next largest was in 1932 when there were 90 additions. The pastor conducted the revival service that year, which resulted in 42 additions, the largest number received during a revival period.

The number of B. Y. P. U.'s has doubled in these years. In 1930 there were four college unions, and junior and intermediate unions which were not functioning well. Now these unions are doing excellent work, a senior union made up of town young people is doing good work, and four college unions have been added—making 11 in all. More unions would be organized immediately if there were any place for them to meet.

The average attendance at the worship services has increased steadily. For the morning service, 1939 shows an increase of 30 per cent over 1935 (the first year of complete records). The evening service for the same year shows an increase of 20 per cent. The Sunday School attendance has increased in about the same ratio.

The Baptist Student Union has received the "First Magnitude" award from the Student Department of the Sunday School Board in Nashville for thirteen consecutive years. The requirements have been met for this school year and application made for this award. No other B. S. U. in a state school anywhere in the South has equaled that record. Few, if any, denominational schools have equaled it. The standard is a high one and only deep consecration and hard work on the part of the students have made this record possible.

The pastor has had several vacations in the past ten years. Some of them were spent in bed with influenza. Others were spent in revival services in various churches. He has attended three meetings of the Southern Baptist Convention—New Orleans, Birmingham, and St. Louis. He has attended two meetings of the Baptist World Alliance—in Berlin and Atlanta. Aside from these and brief trips between Sundays he has taken two vacations—in 1934 and 1937 when he took trips abroad. In the absence of the pastor the pulpit has been supplied at the expense of the church one Sunday in the ten years.

In between periods of loafing in 1939 the pastor spoke 209 times, made 1,200 visits, wrote numerous articles for the papers, wrote hundreds of letters, attended many meetings, read a large number of books and magazines, had part in fifteen funerals, married three couples, went on two or three picnics, and played Chinese checkers several times.

The churches of Montevallo are cooperating in a period of Church Emphasis during March and April. The pastors, with the help of loyal church members, are trying to reach every home and every person with the message of Christ and His church. There are many unevangelized people in our community, and many professing Christians who are "unchurched." Every place of worship in Montevallo ought to be filled at every service. God holds us responsible for doing all we can to reach these people. Our alibis and excuses will not stand before God.

There is something everyone can do—and what one can do one ought to do. Everyone can pray. Everyone can visit and invite people to church. Everyone can set the right example. We are counting on you!

Home Demonstration Club

The Home Demonstration Club was entertained in the home of Mrs. Herbie Ingram Wednesday afternoon. The living and dining rooms were in keeping with the month by their decorations of red and white shrubbery and daffodils.

The program, conducted by Mrs. Robert Frost, was in the form of a spelling match with questions asked and answered about persons or things especially related to February.

The demonstration for the afternoon was interestingly given by Miss Cotney and was very beneficial to farm women, as we spend as much as 70 per cent of our time in the kitchen. Miniature kitchens and furniture were shown in correct and incorrect arrangements.

Mrs. Sam Knowles led the ladies in the social hour in contests and songs. During the hour Mrs. Ingram and Miss Mae Ingram served a pretty plate of chicken salad sandwiches, cherry tarts and hot tea. The secretary asked each one to answer roll call by drinking a toast to some person or persons having a birthday in February. It was lots of fun and surprising to learn the number of people who have their birthdays in February.

Mrs. Cary spent Wednesday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Roland Lee.

Miss Mae Ingram visited Miss Lois Alexander and Mrs. Jesse Frost Monday.

Mr. Jack Lee is home from Florida, and says that the cold weather really made that place look as if it felt part of it, too.

Mrs. Nadine Brasher and children have gone to Birmingham after a two weeks' visit with their aunt, Mrs. Lawson Ingram.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Allen and Shirley Sue, of Birmingham and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson of Goodwater were recent visitors of Mrs. T. W. Ingram.

Miss Virginia Lockeridge went to Birmingham Wednesday to see "Gone With the Wind."

Miss Eleanor Childress was the Saturday night guest of Miss Annie Laurie Ingram.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Mauldin, Mrs. Rudy Vanden Berg and baby, of Fairfield, Mrs. J. H. Mauldin of Fairview, and Mrs. Charles D.

Parker of Dora were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Ingram.

Mrs. Goad and children of Birmingham spent the week end here. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Seales and children of Clanton visited their aunt, Mrs. Jack Ingram, Sunday.

Mrs. H. A. Vanderver and grandchildren, Nubern and Kenneth Vanderver, of Littleton, were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Ingram.

Aldrich News

Junior Study Club

The Aldrich Junior Study Club met last Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. P. N. Lee. Miss Virginia Perrin presided over the business session. The club decided to change the meeting date from Saturday to Wednesday afternoon. The next meeting will be on the third Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Craig. The topic of the program, "Ways of Improving American Speech," was most interestingly discussed by Miss Virginia Perrin. At the conclusion of the program the hostess served refreshments to the following members and guests: Misses Doraine Gentry, Virginia Perrin, Pauline Riffe, Louise Perrin, Louise Brown, Mrs. Craig, and Mrs. Lee.

Baptist W. M. U.

The W. M. U. of the Baptist Church is observing the week of prayer. Leaders for the days are: Monday, Mrs. Nichols; Tuesday, Mrs. Smitherman; Wednesday, Mrs. Calfee; Thursday, Mrs. Clinner; and Friday, Mrs. Coats. The meetings so far have been well attended and spiritually uplifting. This group plans to combine their Friday program with that of the Boothton W. M. U. which will be held in Boothton.

Study Club

The Aldrich Study Club met last week with Mrs. Calfee. One of the most interesting and informative programs of the year dealing with the subject of national defense was given by Dr. I. T. Sanders of Alabama College. This group is highly appreciative of all the favors and assistance that has been given it both by members of the faculty of Alabama College and members of the Montevallo Study Club.

The hostess served a salad course at the conclusion of the program to the following: Mesdames Tom McGaughy, P. N. Lee, W. D. Harmon, E. E. Craig, Wm. S. Coats, R. S. Villadsen, Louis Cooley, Dalton Clinner, L. Calfee and Dr. I. T. Sanders.

Miss Ardell Chastine visited Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Chastine of Wy-lam over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gentry had as their guest this week end Billie Hayes of Piper.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lee Johnson this week end were Misses Eunice and Marie Fancher.

Little Jimmie Payne is ill in Norwood Hospital.

Miss Alma Whaley visited her mother in Birmingham this week end.

Miss Elizabeth Keyes spent the week end with her parents at home in Blocton.

Visiting Mrs. Seales were her daughters, Mrs. J. A. Cooper and Mrs. Ramsay Hyde of Birmingham.

Miss Dorothy Dollar has returned home and to school after visiting her sister, Mrs. Craig, during the convalescence from her recent operation.

Much interest is shown in the evening classes for men where instruction is given in mining and mathematics. Many men who are ambitious to improve themselves and their chances of doing the work better are profiting from the classes.

JACK HAYES STILL IN GAME WITH WHITE SOX

Jack Hayes, of Clanton, continues to hold his place of potential importance with the Chicago White Sox, as evidenced by the following U. P. dispatch from the Sox training camp at Pasadena:

"The best news Manager Jimmie Dykes of the Chicago White Sox has heard in some time was Second Baseman Jack Hayes' report that he felt 'fine' after a brisk workout yesterday.

"If Hayes, who has been in and out of the line-up with a knee injury for the past two seasons, can continue to meet the pace set by the squad he should remove a big question mark from the Sox line up."

Jack has many friends in Montevallo. He was owner of the Hayes Chevrolet Company, which operated successfully here for several years. We follow his career with much interest.

Installation ceremonies will begin with the tea in the College Union Building from 4 to 5 p.m. to which are invited all biology majors in the student body as well as other interested persons. This will be followed by a banquet at 6:45 p.m. in the new dining hall.

Dr. W. K. Butts of the University of Chattanooga will be the installing officer. He is regional vice-president of Beta Beta Beta, and will make the installation address, speaking on "Science and Personality."

Among alumnae being tapped for this honor are Miss Isobel Henderson, principal of Mobile Junior High School; Miss Martha Lowery, technician at St. Joseph's Hospital, Tampa; Miss Orlyn Hill, technician at Hillman Hospital, Birmingham; Miss Marion Moody, Department of Public Welfare, Montgomery; and the following alumnae now teaching: Miss Grace Ethridge, Town Creek; Evelyn Pow, Woodward; Aeolian McRee, Clanton; and Edna Hinton Smith, Birmingham.

The new building program at Alabama College which has permitted expansion of the biology department makes the new organization particularly timely.

The charter members of Beta Beta Beta are to be Josephine Baldwin, Andalusia; Mary Belk, Talladega; Mildred Clotfelter, Birmingham; Erma Louise Salter, Hueytown; Sara Carmichael Smith, Prattville; Ellen Bonner Jones, Camden; Maxine Phillips, Birmingham.

Rep. Ellis Would "Draft Roosevelt"

Montgomery, Ala.—First indications of a movement to draft Roosevelt for a third term appeared in Alabama after Rep. L. H. Ellis, of Shelby County, announced he would campaign for delegate on that platform.

Previously, all candidates for the May 7 Democratic primary had stated they would support the President, but none had said they would seek to enlist him.

"If the President doesn't consent to run, I favor drafting him," Mr. Ellis said. The state legislator is running for delegate to the Democratic National Convention from the Sixth District.

Listing Alabama's "favorite son," Speaker William B. Bankhead, as his second choice, Mr. Ellis elucidated on his "draft Roosevelt" platform: "Franklin D. Roosevelt has captured the mind and heart of our people and the country has no other man to match him."

Other major development in Alabama's political races was the announcement of former Gov. Bibb Graves that he has taken a hands-off policy regarding the May 7 primary and the factions which have been lined up for it.

Many political circles have tied Mr. Graves in with candidacies of R. J. Goode for Democratic national committeeman and Lieut.-Gov. Albert A. Carmichael for delegate from the state at large to the national convention in July.

Study Planned For Teacher Retirement

Montgomery, Ala. — Announcing he has authorized the making of a study and the working out of details looking to the establishment of a permanent retirement plan for Alabama's 19,000 school teachers, Governor Frank M. Dixon has also revealed that he has released $10,000 from the state treasury to finance the work; that provision has been made for the organization of the final administrative board and that an executive director will be chosen by the board members.

The present legislature last year provided the necessary legal machinery for the setting up, in Alabama, of a teacher retirement system, and provided as to its financing that such a system should receive for the purposes of operation the first $400,000 that might be available at the end of any fiscal year over and above a $750,000 balance in the state's general fund.

It is now anticipated, the Governor said, that there will be a sufficient general fund balance at the end of the present fiscal year ending September 30, to place the plan in immediate operation. It is his opinion that the working out of details of the retirement plan with a careful study and permanent set-up will consume from 12 to 18 months. A conditional educational appropriation provided the $10,000 he has released to get the setting up of a teacher pension system actually on the way.

Under enabling legislation, the retirement board will consist of Dr. A. H. Collins, superintendent of education; A. R. Forsyth, director of finance; State Treasurer Charles E. McCall; Frank E. Grove, executive secretary of the Alabama Education Association; also a school superintendent, school principal and classroom teachers, to be named by the State Superintendent of Education.

Address all inquiries to Mrs. Margaret Walburn, Columbiana.

Grant-of-Aid Plan Offered to Farmers

Without having to advance a penny, farmers of Shelby County have an opportunity to get lime and phosphate through the AAA grant-of-aid plan.

At Auburn, A. W. Jones, state AAA administrative officer, announced that increased emphasis is being placed on the grant-of-aid plan in order to get more soil building done.

When a farmer orders lime or phosphate through the grant-of-aid he signs a form stating that he is willing to release enough of his 1940 soilbuilding allowance to pay for the materials and to use them as specified in the program.

The following is an example for determining the soil building assistance and the amount of lime and phosphate that the AAA will furnish: A farmer has 100 acres in cultivation and a 20-acre cotton allotment. One hundred acres minus 20 acres leaves 80 acres; 80 acres times 70 cents per acre equals $56, which he may earn by carrying out regular soil building practices. One hundred per cent of the total soil building assistance, or the $56, may be used to purchase the materials under the grant-of-aid.

Lime may be delivered in bulk at any railroad station in cars of not less than 20 tons. In some counties limestone is delivered to the farm at a slightly higher cost. The phosphate has a guaranteed analysis of 45 per cent and comes in 100-pound bags. Several farms may order a car together.

Farmers may not want to use as much as 100 or 90 per cent of their soil building allowance for purchasing lime and phosphate, as later this year legume seed will be available through the grant-of-aid plan. —A. A. Lauderdale, County Agent.

PETE'S HOME FOLKS ARE FOR HIM

The Times is glad to see the unqualified endorsement of Congressman Pete Jarman by "Our Southern Home," the esteemed weekly newspaper published in the Congressman's home town of Livingston.

"The Home" says: "We invite your attention to the splendid record of Congressman Pete Jarman, our own county candidate for Congressman from the Sixth District. Pete has served us well and honored every position he has held. Let's not change horses in the middle of crossing a dangerous stream. These uncertain times call for ability and experience. Read the record of our distinguished Sumter County product. Pete has been tested and has measured up well to the tasks given him."

The voice of the Greensboro "Watchman" from Hale County is another strong arm of support for Pete, coming from one who has known him from his youth up:

"Hon. Pete Jarman is announcing in today's paper as a candidate for re-election to Congress from this, the Sixth District. He has served in this capacity for the past two terms, and really has made an outstanding record. Mr. Jarman has at all times been alive to the interests of his constituents, and they will no doubt return him to his present position. Frankly, The Watchman is for him. The editor has known Pete Jarman since Pete was born in Greensboro and in after years was a student at the Old Southern University here in Greensboro, and through all the years he has conducted himself in a manner to command the respect of all who know him."

These fine expressions from Sumter and Hale Counties give much encouragement to friends and supporters of Mr. Jarman all over the District.

Reared in Livingston, schooled in Greensboro, with a most notable career in our state service, and an outstanding record in Congress for two terms, it is what we consider the greatest tribute to him to have "Our Southern Home" and the Greensboro "Watchman" unite with the vast number of other friends of his home counties, saying that "through all the years he (Jarman) has conducted himself in a manner to command the respect of all who know him."

GOV. DIXON CHALLENGES CONGRESS ON LYNCHING BILL

Expressing his unalterable opposition and that of the people of Alabama to the enactment of the Wagner anti-lynching bill, now pending in Congress, Governor Frank M. Dixon, in a letter to U. S. Senator Kenneth McKellar, answering an inquiry received from him regarding the proposed Federal legislation, has stated it is his opinion that passage of this bill would immediately and definitely make for bad relationship between the races. "It would hurt, far more than it would help, the very people who are its supposed beneficiaries," the Governor wrote. "It would make far more difficult the problem of those of us who are charged with the maintenance of peaceful relations between the races, and who are honestly anxious to see the advancement of the Negroes among us. It is very definitely and demonstrably unwise."

Advising that, "We do not have lynchings in Alabama," the Governor called attention to the fact that for many years past the entire power of the state government has been thrown behind the effort to stop this type of crime so that it does not exist in this state, and declared that, "should any threat of lynching occur in my administration it would immediately be met with whatever force was necessary, and should any law officer in Alabama be guilty of negligence in this regard he would be proceeded against at once."

"Even a casual study of the situation," Governor Dixon said, "clearly shows that every Southern state has the same attitude toward the problem. In the light of the record," he declared, "the bill very definitely appears to be a threat against state sovereignty, and thereby, against the right of any people to conduct their own affairs. While in some cases, by reason of changed conditions, it can be argued that interference by the Federal government is justified on the grounds of necessity," he continued, "in the case of this bill it definitely cannot. The present swing of the Federal government toward the assumption of power in the local affairs of the states is, in my opinion, an extremely dangerous one," he added.

It is his judgment, this swing, followed by its logical conclusion, "will result in the unquestioned control by the Washington bureaucracy of the personal, private and daily affairs of every citizen of the United States wherever located. It will lessen the power of a minority to protect itself against aggression by a majority. It will remove the control of the acts of officials from the people whose servants they are supposed to be. It cannot fail to be disastrous to our American way of life and to the continued existence of the basic principles which have maintained, often against attack, the liberties of our people."

It is the unanimous opinion of the people of Alabama, the Governor said in his letter to Senator McKellar, that the Wagner anti-lynching bill is advocated and pushed "solely as a sectional issue and for the purpose of securing votes on the part of those who have a substantial Negro element in their constituency, and our people are also convinced that enough social problems exist in the constituency of the gentlemen who are advocating this bill to consume their entire time from now on, if they devote their attention to the affairs of their constituents and not to those of people far removed from their section of the country."

Stating that "we make no claims to divine wisdom in our handling of the problem presented by the existence of the two races in the South," the Governor recalled that "the best thought of our people is devoted to it," and that in his opinion, "we are making progress. One thing that disturbs us far more than the lynching problem, which is non-existent," the Governor said, "is the problem of poverty among the Negroes, a factor which necessitates the carrying of a tremendous burden by the taxpayers for education, health and relief. Might I suggest that great good can be done if, instead of attention to this bill, the gentlemen who are advocating it would devote their time and thought to the removal of the unfair barriers which have kept this section, and thereby these people in poverty. I refer, of course, to the unfair freight rate differential, primarily; secondarily, the tariff; there are many others, including the glaringly disproportionate distribution of relief funds with which all are familiar."

In conclusion, the chief executive said it is his sincere hope, as Governor of the State of Alabama, "that this bill will be decisively defeated in the Congress, with a vote so large that many years will elapse before the attempt to pass it again is made," adding that, "the people of the state are unanimously against it and are looking to their representation in Congress to use whatever legislative means are available to secure its defeat."

"I Never Saw My Real Mother"

"I WAS hatched in an electric incubator. Before I was a day old, I was on my way to a farm with a hundred of my foster brothers and sisters. Other hundreds of them went to town chicken fanciers. I think we who went to the farm fared better than those who went to town, because the farmer who bought us has an electric brooder which keeps us warm on chilly nights, and cold, damp days.

"I heard him talking to a neighbor the other day. He said, 'Since that Alabama Power Company rural electrification fellow persuaded me to put in one of these electric brooders, I'm having much better luck with my chickens. Another thing he told me about was . . .'"

Of course, chickens can't talk, but farmers can. And most of them who have had experience with the recommendations of our rural electrification engineers will tell you that the advice they give is sound. They don't profess to know the answers to all farm problems. But they are qualified to advise concerning the economical use of electricity on the farm for profit, comfort and convenience. Their suggestions about the raising of poultry and plants, insect control, dairying, irrigation, water supply—all with the aid of electric service—have been helpful to many of our farm customers.

There is no charge for their services. They have nothing to sell. A post card addressed to our Rural Electrification Department, Birmingham, or a call at our nearest office, requesting a visit from one of them, will bring him to your home the next time he is in your neighborhood.

Note: The services of rural electrification advisers are also available to our urban customers.

Farm Notes

Fall oats should be top-dressed immediately with 200 pounds of soda per acre, or its equivalent. Top-dress spring oats as soon as they come to a good stand.

Kobe lespedeza makes one of the best hays. It should be planted as early as possible on oats or other good land at the rate of 30 pounds per acre.

New pastures should be seeded at once with 10 pounds common lespedeza, 10 pounds dallis grass, and 4 pounds of white Dutch clover.

Pastures need to be fertilized with 1,000 pounds of ground limestone and 200 pounds of triple superphosphate, or other fertilizer carrying lime and phosphate. Ground limestone and triple superphosphate can come as a grant-of-aid on the farm program.

Cottonseed should be treated before planting to prevent sore-shin and other fungous diseases carried on the seed.

Orchards should be given the dormant spray at once, if this has not been done, using 2 1/4 gallons of oil emulsion in 50 gallons of water. This spray is to control scale. Other spray must be applied later.

Every farmer needs to start a permanent hay crop by planting kudzu crowns at the rate of 700 per acre. There is a $6 soil building payment for planting an acre of kudzu.

FREEZE WILL NOT PREVENT WEEVILS

Auburn, Ala. — If you're one of those who look forward to "no con-sarned boll weevils" as a result of the extreme January cold weather, here's a dash of cold water to dampen your enthusiasm. Insect authorities say you may well be in for a disappointment.

As J. M. Robinson, head of Auburn's entomology department, puts it, "Boll weevils ordinarily should have been destroyed by weather as low as ten degrees, but to say that Alabama cotton producers will have no trouble with them this summer would be only wishful thinking. Boll weevils will probably be with us but we can predict the infestation ill, by all indications, be smaller than before."

Robinson said late hibernation of the weevils was somewhat in their favor. Indications are that the the weevils in North Alabama had a much harder time during the cold weather than those in South Alabama. However, the temperature did drop low enough in the southern section to kill a lot of the cotton pests.

New Orleans, La.—Approximately 400 educators representing universities, colleges and secondary schools from 11 Southern States, are expected to attend the 44th annual meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools to be held from April 8 to 12 in Atlanta, Ga., where the association was organized in 1895.

Among special subjects to be discussed at the convention are: The uses being made of the evaluative criteria of the cooperative study of secondary school standards in the South, the work of Southern secondary schools as illustrated by state high school supervision and the preparation of teachers, substitutes for college freshman grades, and education in the universities and colleges of the South.

Girl Scouts Celebrate Their 28th Anniversary This Week

The Girl Scouts of the United States are celebrating the movement's twenty-eighth birthday this week. Some of the girls who are celebrating are poor, some are rich, most are somewhat in between. Some are black, some are white. Some live in cities, some on prairie farms. About 75 of them typical of more than half a million throughout the United States live in Montevallo.

Every one of them is part of a Girl Scout democracy in which each troop elects its own officers and trains its members in delegating and accepting responsibility. Their leaders help each girl to see that differences in environment or background need not make a girl feel left out. On the contrary, she can feel needed and important because she has something all her own to contribute.

America was built out of the welding of many different peoples and ideas. Democracy depends on that welding and more of our children must learn the art before it is too late.

There is no question about their willingness to learn. The Girl Scout Council of Montevallo, like other Girl Scout groups, has a great number who are eager to live by the standards of Girl Scouting. But if the work is to expand, there must be more men and women to serve on committees, to share their hobbies with girls, to act as leaders, or to give financial help. We want the kind of world that Girl Scouts are trying to build; the place to begin is Montevallo, and the time to begin is now.

Troop 2

Troop 2 met as usual March 11 with fourteen members present. So that every Girl Scout could catch up with her badge work, the meeting was turned over to different interest groups and people worked on their badges. The troop was glad to welcome a new member, Vandora Harris, who has just moved into the Montevallo community. Miss Saylor came and the girls learned a new English folk dance, using the peasant waltz as the main step. After about forty-five minutes of dancing the meeting was closed.

Those attending were Dama Wills, Edine Sellers, Sara Barr, Frances Woods, Julia Rogan, Virginia Barnes, Vandora Harris, Pat Weems, Frances Nybeck, Tootsie Clayton, Sara Henry Reynolds, Ann Davis, Peggy Davis, Mary Jean Kennerly, and Alice Ray Clemmons.

Troop 3

We had a most enjoyable hike over to Big Springs Saturday, March 9. We met at the Little House at 10 o'clock and played games for half an hour. Then we explored the creek below the Little House and found many interesting objects. At twelve we started the hike and sang songs all the way.

Next, we ate lunch. Two of the girls had something to cook, so we built a fire. When we had finished eating, all played games. Some girls laid a trail through the woods. Others played wave.

The girls present were Margaret Kennerly, Betty Gravlee, Joyce Farlow, Louise Davis, Sue Chamberlee, Alice Creel, Joyce Baker, Una-Faye Davis, Katherine Bridges, Marjorie Shores, and Mildred Wooten.

Troop 6

At our first meeting we learned the Scout laws and said our pledge as Girl Scouts. We played games so that our leaders could learn our names. We also sang songs. After this we elected our temporary patrol leaders and divided into patrols. Louise Perrin and Georgie Mae Fitts were elected as our patrol leaders. The assistant leaders are Pauline Riffe and Grethel Tatum. We also elected a scribe, Dorothy Ann Fitts.

Our leaders, Miss Reasoner and Miss Eastman, showed us around the Girl Scout Little House and told us some things we would do as Girl Scouts.

The following girls are now enrolled in Troop 6: Elizabeth Causey, Mary Alice Edwards, Dorothy Ann Fitts, Georgie Mae Fitts, Cliffortine Kirkley, Rose Marie Lee, Flossie Lucas, Dorothy Nichols, Louise Perrin, Pauline Riffe, Delores Smith, Grethel Tatum.

Senior Troop

The Senior Troop of the Montevallo Girl Scouts met at the Little House March 5. Mrs. Wills and Miss Annie Boyd Parker met with them. Mrs. Jackson will be unable to attend the meetings until fall.

The first part of the meeting the girls went to the infirmary and got the supplies for the first aid kit which they are making. The second part was spent in playing games. Those present were Evelyn Ward, Jackie Woolley, Carolyn Ray, Billie Louise Mitchell, Pat Weems, and Frances Nybeck.

Laws Observed If Understood, Says Beer Head

Montgomery, Ala.—Into the ears of every retail beer dealer in Alabama will be spoken the message of the Brewers and Alabama Beer Distributors Committee — "The least violated law is the one best understood."

David E. Dunn, state director, completed plans today for district meetings in all of Alabama's 24 "wet" counties to explain the rules and regulations of the Alabama ABC Board, and the beer industry's own rules of public decency—both of which must be observed in the operation of retail outlets.

First ears to hear the message were at Mobile last week where 125 retail operators gathered for the opening speech in the state-wide program planned by the Beer Committee to carry its message of self-regulation direct to the retail outlet.

A vote of appreciation and cooperation was given by the Mobile and Baldwin County operators following Mr. Dunn's address, in which he stressed the fact that "there are many standards of equipment and facilities at retail outlets but there can be but one standard of conduct—a clean, orderly operation."

The educational tour was launched as the committee turned into its second year of operation, with a record behind it that brought praise from officials, the public and press for its "clean up or close up" activities in weeding out the undesirable minority from Alabama's retail beer outlets.

A purpose underlies character, culture, position, attainment of every sort.—Munger.

A total of 27,232 Boy Scouts represented 563 councils at the National jamboree held in Washington, D. C., in 1937.

KAPSOON KIM

The presence of Miss Kapsoon Kim, petite Korean girl, at Alabama College adds an Oriental flavor to the campus. Miss Kim—now in her second year as a student—takes a full part in campus life and is extremely popular with her fellow students. (Note the familiar scrapbook of the American school girl which she is carrying under her arm.) She acts in plays, had an important part in the recent College Night, speaks excellent English, and ranks high in scholarship.

For a number of years foreign students have been coming to Alabama College, among them girls from France, Spain, the Argentine, Germany, Mexico, and Cuba.

Schools To Receive More Money In This Administration

Montgomery, Ala.—Alabama's schools will receive $11,000,000 more during the four years of the present administration than in any like period of time in the state's history, it has been announced by Governor Frank M. Dixon, who said savings affected in operation of the state government will make this possible.

Citing the improved condition of the schools, the Governor, at the same time said that Alabama is doing far less for its school children than many other states, adding that "there just isn't enough money in the state to do what we would like to for education," and that "our only hope is to increase the wealth of our people."

Figures released by the chief executive on school population, which apparently reflect a falling birth rate in Alabama, were especially interesting, in view of the fact that these figures show that while there are fewer elementary pupils now than there were in 1922, the number of high school pupils is practically doubled.

For the period of 1922-1926, during the administration of the late former Governor W. W. Brandon, Alabama's elementary school population was 513,114, and the high school population was 91,334. At the present time, elementary school population stands at 510,342, and the high school population at 180,997. Expenditures for schools of the four preceding administrations are listed as follows:

Branlon, 1922-1926, $18,186,493; Graves, 1926-1930, $27,888,641; Miller, 1930-1934, $24,938,159; Graves, 1934-1938, $33,397,852.

In the four years of the present administration, therefore, approximately $44,000,000 will be spent on schools. A total of $11,872,171 was disbursed by the state for education in 1939.

Lee Wilson spent last week end at home in Montevallo. He is now employed by the state department of revenue in the sales tax division, stationed at Dothan.

He who wishes to secure the good of others has already secured his own.—Confucius.

Smith Appeals For Safety Practices

Montgomery, Ala. — Addressing the Alabama Bottlers' Association at its annual convention here on the subject, "Safety as a Good Business Policy," Director T. Weller Smith of the State Department of Public Safety, complimented the bottlers on the safety reputation of the drivers they employ. "We do not have any trouble with them," the director said. "By their careful driving and courtesy, drivers of soft drink trucks are building good will for their employers."

An earnest appeal was made by the speaker, however, for better safety practice and observance by the motoring public in general, pointing out that Alabama highways rank second from the bottom on the list in the Southern States in frequency with which they are the scenes of fatal accidents. The average fatalities on this state's roads and streets is about 600 annually, he said, with ten times that many injured, and property damage totaling half a million dollars.

Though Alabama's new driver's licence law is the best in the nation, in his opinion, Director Smith stated, it cannot be any better in the protection it affords the driving public than that driving public wants it to be. There must be a change in the attitude in the motoring public, he continued, before any worthwhile headway can be made in the solving of Alabama's highway traffic problems. He announced that his department's new program for reducing the fatal accident total includes education and engineering as well as enforcement, and took occasion to score as "vicious" the practice of "ticket-fixing."

Director Smith, pointing out that motor vehicle liability and property damage insurance rates in this state are now so high as to be almost prohibitive, promised that they will be reduced, and that this reduction will occur as the highway safety campaign, now under way, progresses.

An important part of the 1940 farm program on the small farm should be the brood sow, say livestock authorities at Auburn.

Auxiliary Presents Flag To Schools

The American Legion Auxiliary, Hendrick-Hudson Post No. 96, of Montevallo, presented a new flag to the schools of our town on Friday, March 1. The presentation took place on the campus at the flag pole, which was given years ago in memory of the Montevallo men who lost their lives in the World War.

Mrs. P. D. Pendleton, president of the Auxiliary, introduced Mr. W. M. Wyatt, commander of the local Legion post, who gave a short talk. He stated that the flag should be revered because it is our national emblem, representing freedom, liberty, and democracy, instead of imprisonment, tyranny, and bloodshed. He ended his talk by giving the American's creed.

Mrs. M. P. Jeter, chairman of the Americanism committee of the Auxiliary, was introduced by Mrs. Pendleton, and presented the colors to the school. Mrs. Jeter stated.

"We are gathered today for a grateful and patriotic duty, to dedicate these colors, the emblem of the United States of America, and of the American Legion Auxiliary. This is the flag of our country in which is embodied the freedom and hope of our nation. As in time of war we served our country, so in time of peace may we serve fearlessly and well. May we bear in mind those heroes of ours who have gone before, that their memories may dwell in our hearts, and be a constant blessing among us. As they served America in time of war, yielding their last full measure of devotion, may we serve America by so living that justice, freedom, and democracy may endure forever."

A few seconds of silent prayer was observed in memory of the men who gave their lives in the conflict.

Alice Creel of the Elementary school, and Fred Adams of the high school made short talks, accepting the flag in behalf of the schools. The flag was raised by Fouts Parnell, in Boy Scout uniform, assisted by a color guard of Girl Scouts.

The ceremony was concluded with prayer by Mrs. Fred Frost, state chaplain of the Auxiliary.

Maxwell Announces Platform For Congressional Campaign

Thomas H. Maxwell, Tuscaloosa County farmer, veteran of two wars and an engineer of long experience, has formally announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for representative in Congress from the Sixth District.

Mr. Maxwell was the fourth candidate to announce, but the first to reveal a platform detailing a definite stand on various issues of national import.

In making his formal announcement, Mr. Maxwell declared that he favored "continuous federal - state farmer cooperation and improvement of staple crops and federal crop insurance, a wage-hour law for industry and collective bargaining for farmers, labor and industry; abolishment of freight and tariff discriminations against Southern and Western farm products; continuing the trade treaty policies now in effect;

"Federal construction and maintenance for four years of 100-bed hospitals for any towns furnishing satisfactory sites; a $40 pension for needy aged during a period of four years, to show the states that they can cooperate to care decently for their senior citizens."

Favors Bankhead

He said he favored Speaker William B. Bankhead, a classmate at the University of Alabama, as Democratic nominee for president. He also declared his goal to be, "to achieve permanent prosperity, a job for every able-bodied person."

Mr. Maxwell is a native of Tuscaloosa County, and a descendant of one of the county's oldest and most prominent families. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Robert Maxwell, born in a log house at the Woodbank Farm on the Greensboro Road where he now resides.

Mr. Maxwell graduated from the University of Alabama with a B. S. degree in the illustrious class of 1893, which included Speaker Bankhead, former Governor Bibb Graves, Hugh Morrow, Dr. Battle Searcy, Beatty Robertson, Jack Abbott, Hardy Johnston and other prominent Alabamians.

Mr. Maxwell was a cadet lieutenant in college and entered the 3rd U. S. Engineers Regiment to serve in Cuba during the Spanish-American War. He was employed continuously in engineering work in Cuba until 1902, when he went to the Texas oil fields as an engineer for the Kansas City Southern Railway.

Served in France

Returning to Tuscaloosa in 1912 he managed the Tuscaloosa Compress Company until the World War, when he volunteered as a captain in the U. S. Engineers Reserve. He went overseas, serving as an engineer on construction projects and railroad work in France. In 1919 he returned to this country but attained the rank of lieutenant-colonel in the engineers before reaching retirement age.

Mr. Maxwell has been a candidate in the last three congressional campaigns, making the race in 1934, 1936, and 1938. He has advocated various progressive legislation, especially in regard to the relief of farm problems, and was extremely active in promoting the cotton control movement at its inception.

BAPTIST CHURCH

"Let Him Be Crucified" will be the text for the Sunday morning sermon. At the Sunday evening service the subject will be "The Rose Garden of God." Sunday School meets at 9:45 a.m., and the Baptist Training Union at 6:45 p.m.

Bring someone with you to church Sunday. Invite your neighbor. Someone is depending on you for light. Is your light "under a bushel" of sin or neglect? Are you "walking worthily" of the high calling of God?

Mrs. S. J. Kendrick returned last Friday from a hospital in Birmingham where she underwent an operation for gallstones. Her many friends will be glad to know she is doing fine.

Let us see to it that our lives, like jewels of great price, be noteworthy not because of their great width, but because of their weight.—Seneca.

Miss Kennedy Is Author Of Article

Featured in a recent issue of Design, a magazine devoted to the creative arts, is an article entitled "Art and Consumer Education," by Miss Dawn S. Kennedy, head of the Alabama College art department. The article has particular interest for Alabama College because the photographic illustrations feature the interiors of the apartments of two other faculty members. The striking modernistic apartments of Dr. Lois Ackerley, head of the home economics department, and the equally distinctive apartment of Miss Nellie Mae Touchstone are shown in the pictures which accompany Miss Kennedy's article.

In her article the author states: "Today, living imposes upon us the responsibility of being intelligent consumers not only of goods, but of time and energy. . . Formulas were once set up for the furnishing of rooms, until. . . you could tell at a glance whether the owner of the room taught art or home economics. If home economics, there would be the proverbial textile hanging on the wall, and if art there would be arrangements of ceramic sculptures and pottery. . . Art has been taught for the sake of the consumer, but he had to consume what he was told he should."

"An interesting project has been carried out at Alabama College which is expected to answer some of these questions. The college built a new dormitory and remodeled a union building, for which the art and home economics departments were asked to select the furnishings. The furnishings were selected with many of the foregoing problems in mind. Instead of one person furnishing the buildings for the 'sake of furnishings,' the committee planned that the furnishings would illustrate many consumer problems."

REINKE TO ADDRESS LATIN SECTION OF A. E. A.

Dr. Edgar C. Reinke, professor of German at the college, will speak to the Latin section of the Alabama Education Association Friday morning at Phillips High School. The subject of Dr. Reinke's talk will be "Some Roman Ideals of Education." Dr. Reinke is speaking on invitation of Mrs. Rubye P. Collins, Montgomery, president of the department of Latin of the Alabama Education Association.

Did "Johnny" Make Bonnie or Vice Versa?

Did "Oh, Johnny" make Bonnie Baker, or did Bonnie make "Johnny"? That is a musical riddle which has produced numerous arguments all over the country during the past few months. Tin Pan Alley prophets, paraphrasing Shakespeare, say the song's the thing, while the nation's songbirds try to blast that theory by saying the singer is the thing. If you haven't settled the matter for yourself as yet, you might read what follows and render your own verdict.

The opening scene of the sensational revival of the 22-year old "Oh, Johnny" was enacted in the Empire Room of the Palmer House in Chicago, where Bonnie Baker was singing with the dance orchestra, with which she had been affiliated for several years, and Miss Merriel Abbott was producing the Empire Room's revues.

Anxious to offer the hotel patrons something a bit different in revues, Miss Abbott decided to employ a "Mauve Decade" routine for her International Dancers. During the rehearsals many old songs were dug out of the files and tried out. "Johnny" was one of them and appeared to fit the spot. Bonnie asked and received permission to sing "Johnny" while the girls were dancing and the song went into the floor show and became a hit with the crowd. Later "Johnny" was lifted out of the routine and given to Bonnie as a solo in the 10 o'clock show. She was a sensation with "Johnny" the first time she did it as a solo.

From then on "Johnny" and Bonnie became inseparable. When she left the Palmer House she continued to use the song and never failed to get several encores at hotels and theatre. When she reached Los Angeles she and the orchestra made a record of "Johnny" for Columbia records and forgot the matter.

Unknown to Bonnie her records of "Johnny" began to pour into the coin machines all over the country and her emotional "O's" began to pop out and get the public excited. Everybody started to talk about Bonnie and clamor for her "Johnny" records. Friends and strangers began calling, phoning, wiring and writing her from everywhere. She really didn't know what all the shooting was about and was the most surprised young lady in the country. Almost overnight she was lifted out of obscurity and swamped with offers from radio sponsors, theatres, hotels and others looking to capitalize on her sudden popularity. Before she really knew what was happening she had signed with Lucky Strike for a series of broadcasts.

Bonnie's "Johnny" record, which couldn't be manufactured fast enough to supply the steadily growing demand, had also started the sheet music selling again in 10,000 lots, and prompted the Andrews Sisters, Glenn Miller, Dick Robertson and others to record it, whose combined sales totaled 500,000 records, equalling the amount Bonnie had sold after getting away to a flying start.

Prior to the miraculous events, Bonnie Baker, born Evelyn Nelson, at Orange, Texas, had been just another vocalist. During her career she had sung hundreds of other songs, none of which had produced any radical changes in her professional standing. But when she sang "Oh, Johnny" for the records and ended with a trick sigh things began to happen, and have been happening ever since.

When Fred Forster, the publisher, was asked if he could explain the situation, he grinned, saying, "It was a lucky combination. Miss Baker had a clever simple song that appeals to the public and she was just smart enough to surprise the public with a clever fading sigh."

Maybe that's the logical answer after all.

Baby-Kissing Out As Vote-Catcher; Women Seek Facts

Some day an Alabama politician is going to kiss a baby and the baby's mother instead of smiling proudly, is going to start asking the politician about debt service charges, paving costs, centralized purchasing and the item in the local budget called "miscellaneous."

Already women in 165 Alabama communities are meeting once a month to study the impact of taxes on the family budget and to find means of easing the load through improved efficiency of local governments.

These study groups, as they are called, are led in Alabama by Mrs. George W. Adams of Andalusia, national committee member, and Mrs. James A. Carney of Battles Wharf, state director of the National Consumers Tax Commission, a non-partisan and non-profit organization of women with units in about 5,000 cities and towns throughout the country. National president is Mrs. Melville Muckelstone of Chicago, former president of the American Legion Auxiliary.

"Economy, like charity, begins at home," Mrs. Muckelstone says, "and we believe that our NCTC groups are performing a genuine service by studying means of municipal betterment as the first step in tax reduction."

"We are encouraging the women to find out through friendly surveys the costs of services and materials in each locality and then to pass that information on to the women in other cities. We are confident that a comparison of costs and expenditures will point the way to many savings."

Mrs. Muckelstone explains that the NCTC is preparing monthly study programs designed to give members a better understanding of municipal operations. Accompanying the programs, she says, are yardsticks for examining a city's financial soundness, and the efficiency of its departments such as police, fire, and health.

On the recommendations of local NCTC groups many mayors have appointed committees of representative citizens. Mrs. Muckelstone announces, to look into the prices paid by other towns of like size for certain goods and services and to compare them in the hope of saving the taxpayers' money. These committees are also making comparisons between cities as to costs of operating various departments, she adds.

Public Is Invited To Benefit Party To Be Given For Purpose of Defraying Expenses

The Business and Professional Women's Club is putting on a benefit party Monday evening, April 27, at the High School Auditorium. The purpose is to raise funds to help defray expenses of the Town Planning Institute, which will be held April 10-11.

R. C. Morrison, director of Holland's Southern Institute for Town Service, will be here at that time to aid our townsmen in the planning for the betterment of Montevallo. Mr. Morrison is nationally known as a landscape architect, writer, and lecturer, and as such he has been conducting an intensive educational program to arouse interest everywhere in the South to the necessity for town organization.

The Business and Professional Women's Club hopes by bringing Mr. Morrison to Montevallo, to render a real service to our community. Therefore, the club is enlisting the aid of every civic-minded citizen in putting the project across. One way to help is to attend the party. Much more information about the undertaking will be forthcoming before April 10.

As to the party, it will begin at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening. Bridge, rummy, and Chinese checkers will be played. Guests may make up their own private parties or may meet their friends at the party. Prizes are being furnished by local merchants. Refreshments will be served.

American Legion Celebrates Birthday

Hendrick-Hudson Post No. 96, of the American Legion, and its Auxiliary held a joint "get together" meeting last Friday night at the Baptist Church, the occasion being in celebration of the 21st birthday of the Legion organization.

Mrs. P. D. Pendleton, president of the Auxiliary, opened the meeting by leading the pledge to the flag. Invocation was given by Prof. J. L. Appleton, chaplain of the Post.

Mrs. Pendleton introduced Mr. W. M. Wyatt, commander of the Post, who acted as master of ceremonies, making an interesting talk. He introduced the guests, Dr. and Mrs. B. F. Austin and Mr. and Mrs. Moore, from Montgomery, and Mr. Tom Grace, from Tuscaloosa.

Members of the Auxiliary served a delicious plate supper with coffee and cake, which everyone enjoyed, together with the feeling of friendliness and comradeship which prevailed throughout the meal.

The birthday cake was brought in bearing 21 lighted candles, and was placed in front of the commander. Following a speech filled with wit and good humor, Mr. Wyatt surprised everyone (even his wife) by cutting the cake himself and serving it to the thirty people present. In fact, it was so skillfully done that one could not help but wonder what other hidden talents this post commander, Mac Wyatt, has under his bushel.

Following the supper, Dr. Austin, who is department Americanism chairman of the Legion, also a member of the State Health Department, showed some motion pictures. One was "Gold Wings of the Navy"; others showed scenes of the national Legion conventions in Los Angeles and New York. These were greatly enjoyed.

The meeting closed with exchange of many good wishes for a successful year for the Legion and Auxiliary and many happy returns of the birthday.

Vacancies Exist In Army Air Corps

Information has been received from Congressman Pete Jarman from Washington that there are now existing vacancies in the Air Corps. The examination given those entering the March classes has already been held, but those students having two years years or more college education to their credit may enter this class without mental examination. Examinations for the June classes will be announced later.

"Flying cadets are very fortunate," said Congressman, "because of the excellent training and education they receive while learning to fly." The Congressman also stated that aviation had ceased to be the "coming field," but that it had "arrived" and was now a fully developed part of our military and commercial life. Alabama is indeed fortunate in that one of the nine cadet schools is located in our state at Tuscaloosa. Flying as a profession is an open field and seeks physically capable and mentally alert young men.

Any additional information may be secured by writing the Chief of the Air Corps, War Department, Washington, D. C., or Congressman Pete Jarman, Washington, D. C.

ing Youth Leaders Will Daily Program of Conferences and Studies

The churches of Montevallo will observe "Youth Week" during all next week, March 24-31. This is part of the Church Emphasis period which is now being observed.

Two outstanding leaders of youth will be here to assist in the "Youth Week" program, Miss Elma Currin, Associate Young People's Leader of the Baptist Women's Missionary Union of the South, and Rev. Davis Woolley, Baptist Student Secretary at Auburn.

As a part of the "Youth Week" observance worship services and conferences will be held at the High School each day from Monday through Friday. The worship services will be as follows: Monday, 8:15 - 9:00; Tuesday, 9:05 - 10:00; Wednesday, 10:00-10:50; Thursday, 11:00-11:50; Friday, 1:20-2:15. The hour following the service each day will be given to individual and group conferences for all those who desire such conferences. These will be led by Miss Currin and Mr. Woolley, together with the pastors.

On the college campus special plans have been made by the Baptist Student Union for all who desire to take part in the activities of the week. Conference periods are being arranged and noonday services will be held Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.

Services will be held at the Baptist Church each evening, beginning at 6:45. A fifteen minute devotional period will begin the evening program. On Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday Miss Currin will teach a mission study book from 7 to 8 o'clock. At the same time Mr. Woolley will lead another group of young people in conferences on the religious problems and experiences of young people. From 8 to 8:30 all will come together for a closing worship period with a message by Mr. Woolley. On Thursday and Friday evenings the worship service and message will follow immediately the devotional.

All the young people of the community are invited to join in any of these activities and attend any of the services they find it possible to attend. Parents and all who are interested in the youth of our community are invited to take whatever part they can in the activities of the week. They are especially invited to attend the services at the church each evening. All will please join in prayer for these services that they may bring rich spiritual experiences to our young people and to all of us.

"THE YOUNGEST"

With the many excellent plays, concerts, and other stage performances that are constantly produced and presented in Montevallo, The Times realizes that it is a precarious business for one to say of any particular performance "that is the best thing I have seen on the local stage."

There might be something of an avenue of escape for such a statement in the fact that one might not have seen all the performances that have been done.

However, we feel somewhat adventurous today, rather daring, you might say, and in this spirit, which is likely to be our downfall, temporarily at least, we shall assert that the High School Senior play of last Wednesday night was the best thing of the kind we have seen in a long time.

Doubtless Miss Utterback had to do a lot of coaching and polishing to get the players to the high state of proficiency which they manifested. But she did a most creditable job.

And credit for such proficiency is as properly given to the amateur actors as well as their coach and adviser. It was an all-round good job. It pleased the large audience, because it got hold of them and gripped them. That is the acid test of any such performance and certainly "The Youngest" met that test and went off with colors flying high.

Many people were kept away by the bad weather. It was literally raining cats and dogs about the time for assembly at Palmer Hall. Notwithstanding, a large audience greeted the rising curtain. All agree that it was worth getting wet to see the show.

LOTS OF ROAD WORK

"The bad weather of the past winter has left our roads in an ugly shape," said Commissioner S. M. Tatum Monday, "but we are rapidly getting our forces and equipment in readiness to meet the situation."

That is good news to everybody. We have only the weather to blame for such bad roads. We have Mr. Tatum and his crews to depend on to put them back in shape. That is reassuring because we know it will be only a short while until we can make fifty over places where it was dangerous for a crow to fly in January and February.

C. D. (Cold Drink) TATUM HERE

Mr. C. D. Tatum, of Tuscaloosa, former operator of Tatum Chevrolet Company here, was a visitor in Montevallo Monday. Mr. Tatum now operates a soft drink bottling business in Tuscaloosa and says he expects better spring weather to bring better business in his line.

It used to be "Chevrolet" Tatum. Now it is "Cold Drink" Tatum.

FINNISH RELIEF FUND

We must not think that because peace has been arranged between Finland and Russia there is no longer occasion to help the Finns. The need and suffering on the part of women and children continues, and will continue for a long time to come. The daily papers state that funds are coming in regularly for the Relief Fund. That is as it should be. Let us keep on until we have done our full share in relieving the suffering and dire need of these worthy people.

The report on the fund in Montevallo to date is as follows:

Previously reported	$41.50
Anonymous	1.00
Mr. W. M. Jones-Williams	10.00
Mrs. J. Alex Moore	1.00
Total	$53.50

GIRL SCOUTS

Community service sounds like a large order for a small girl but it does include many opportunities for alert, young citizens, in the opinion of Mrs. J. L. Appleton, commissioner of the Montevallo Girl Scout Council.

"The child who has learned that she should not mark library books while taking notes or waste paper towels because 'the school pays for them anyway' is taking her first steps towards becoming civic-minded," Mrs. Appleton said. "Children as young as our Brownie Scouts, whose ages range from seven to ten, are good citizen in their communities when they obey traffic lights and cross streets at crossings only; when they obey safety rules while riding a bicycle and when they carry umbrellas and parcels in such a way as to protect others."

"Community service has always been a vital part of our program," she continued. "The types of service have changed with the times since our movement was launched in this country twenty-eight years ago by Juliette Gordon Lowe. Today it takes many forms and becomes more advanced as our girls grow into their teens."

"One of the main objectives of Girl Scouting is to help each member to a better understanding and to develop loyalty to the ideals of her country through an interest in the current affairs of her community and a desire to serve that community and her nation," Mrs. Appleton continued. "We know that such participation will develop a pride in the epic that is America, in the achievements of individuals, communities and regions. Our program encourages girls to seek the truth when forming opinions about many things, both large and small. It helps girls to develop the ability to use such information toward beneficent ends, and faith in the power of American men and women to improve themselves and their surroundings in a modern and changing society."

Troop 2

Troop 2 met at the usual time Monday at the Little House. They discussed a picture of Juliette Lowe that they are going to buy. Then they worked on their badges. Mary Jean Kennerly, Dama Wills, and Peggy Davis made reports on Juliette Lowe to pass a requirement in the "My Troop" badge.

The girls attending this meeting were Sara Henry Reynolds, Dama Wills, Alice Ray Clemmons, Edine Sellers, Virginia Barnes, Vandora Harris, Annie Mae Davis, Frances Woods, Mary Jean Kennerly, Edna Wells, Julia Rogan, Sarah Barr, and Peggy Davis. Later Frances Nybeck and Pat Weems came in to work with the troop and Miss Saylor on the folk dancing badge. Our leaders present were Miss Palmer and Miss Ribble.

Leaders Meeting

There will be a Scout leaders meeting at the Little House Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. The members of the Council are cordially invited to this meeting.

Twenty days of the CMTC procurement campaign have passed and as yet only 1 application to attend the camp has been received from Shelby County.

There has been no difficulty, nor will there be any difficulty in procuring sufficient applicants to fill our quota and, while applications from the state as a whole are quite satisfactory, the Corps Area Commander, as well as the Camp Area Commander, are desirous that each county in this camp area fill its quota.

These camps have many advantages. In the first place, they contribute immeasurably to the physical development of the young men who attend, by their living in the open air, both day and night; by participating in athletics and several hours of military drill daily; by eating of food which is both wholesome and plentiful and their conforming to the regularity of a prescribed schedule results in the trainee leaving camp with increased vitality and a healthier outlook on life. The invigorating effect of thirty days at one of these camps cannot be overestimated.

Secondly, the attendance at a CMT camp is for many boys a real vacation. Thirty days away from home, in a new environment is a very stimulating experience. The boys, too, make contacts with young men of other states, thereby giving them a broader view of the country in which they live. In the evenings, most of which are their own, they can find much enjoyment in attending the open air theatre, at the hostess house where they may enjoy themselves by reading, playing the radios, or in other ways. There are also dances and parties during the camp period which are conducted under the auspices of the recreation officer.

Then, there is the citizenship and military aspect. The trainees undergo thirty days of the strictest discipline, which imbues them with a new sense of responsibility, a respect for law and order and an unquestioning obedience to instructions. There are many lectures on citizenship from which the trainee obtains a more meaningful and vital sense of patriotism.

Last, but far from least, is the fact that a CMT camp constitutes a regular course in military training, upon successful completion of which there is a very definite recognition. For graduates of the blue course, which is the fourth year, a trainee is given a certificate, which upon completing certain other requirements, qualifies him for a commission in the Officers' Reserve Corps.

From the viewpoint of the government, the aim of the CMTC is to improve our country by the development of our youth into good citizens. However, the fact of attendance at one of these camps implies no obligation whatsoever of further military service.

Application blanks may be procured from the county representative, Mr. J. L. Appleton, of Columbiana or from the CMTC Procurement Officer, Fort McClellan, Ala.

Never has any man plucked the fruit of happiness from the tree of injustice.—Anon.

Mercy to him that shows it, is the rule.—Cowper.

A good garden cannot be produced on poor ground. Fertile soil and a good variety of vegetables will mean a big difference on every farm in Alabama.

Better Homes Week Plans Developing

Auburn, Ala.—What do you need around the home to make it a better place to live? Do you need some new closets, or some additional shrubbery, some paint, a new barn, or some other improvement?

Those are some of the questions you can ask yourself between now and Better Homes Week, April 28 to May 4. Over 30,000 farm families and several thousand other families of Alabama will join in this movement to provide better homes in the state.

Ethna McGaugh, state home demonstration agent, said here today that observance of Better Homes Week will start in many communities around the first of April when community home demonstration clubs will sponsor clean-up campaigns. Yards will be "spruced-up" and community and public centers will be made attractive for visitors to see.

Around the home the year-round garden, a well-managed poultry flock, landscaped yards, improved kitchens and living rooms, and built-in cabinets and closets will be on display as home demonstration club women sponsor tours and educational exhibits and meetings in the community.

Civic organizations in the counties are cooperating with the home demonstration clubs and 4-H Clubs in reaching all people with the better homes program, according to Miss McGaugh.

"All counties planning Better Homes programs will fit their programs to local needs and as a result Alabama will be taking a long step in making every home more convenient, more comfortable, and more attractive," the state agent said.

In 1920 Alabama's per acre yield of cotton was 181 pounds per acre. In 1916 it was 95 pounds per acre because of the serious boll weevil infestation. By 1938 it had climbed to 215 pounds per acre, largely because of better varieties, better fertilization and better cultivation methods.

Local Girls Receive Rooms In Tutwiler

When the senior class at Alabama College drew lots last week, Miss Jean Letson of Columbiana and Miss Ruth Whaley of Montevallo were among the lucky group who drew numbers assigning them rooms in the new and modernistic Julia Tutwiler Hall which PWA officials have turned over to the college early this month. Besides the spacious, airy living quarters, Tutwiler has a large recreation and fun room in the basement, flanked on each side by lounges, a terrace overlooking the lower campus and swimming pool, and a number of private date parlors. This new senior dormitory, housing 102 additional students, has been pronounced by Southern architects as being one of the most beautiful of its kind on any woman's college campus in the country, with its special interior appointments carefully selected by the art faculty of Alabama College.

Three counties—Limestone, Macon, and Marengo—have been selected as demonstration counties in the new USDA program to make cotton and ticking available to low income families for mattress making. Work will be started soon, announces P. O. Davis, director of the Alabama Extension Service.

Make the farm produce all it can in food and feed; add poultry, a few hogs, and a milk cow, and a great many of the farmers' problems will be solved, believes P. O. Davis, State Extension Service director.

Have you tried the homemade lamp brooder for young chicks? It requires only a short time to construct and costs from $5 to $7. The county or assistant county agent can give you plans for making this brooder.

No one will be entitled to a share in AAA conservation assistance payments for soil building practices solely because he furnishes the land on which the practices are carried out, according to a recent announcement.

Have you made plans to join in Alabama's observance of Better Homes Week, April 28 to May 4? If you haven't, see your local home demonstration agent and help to make Alabama homes more attractive, more livable, and happier places to live.

We'd Rather Talk BUSINESS than BALLYHOO!

High-Pressure Selling Isn't a part of our program. In fact we're not so good at it. For selling Fords gets you pretty fact-minded and you lose your touch for ballyhoo.

We Can Stick to Facts when we sell this 1940 Ford V-8, and still give a pretty convincing argument for buying one. We like to talk to prospects who own some other low-price car, or who have shopped around, for a Ford V-8 for 1940 will really open their eyes.

No Other Car in the low price field has the zip of an eight-cylinder engine, a dual down draft carburetor, semi-centrifugal clutch, torque tube drive, or three-quarter floating rear axle. Features so good they are found in many more expensive, "big brother" cars of various companies. You get them all in a 1940 Ford V-8, at the Low Ford Price!

And For the Ladies, who aren't very interested in engineering, here's a special invitation. Come down to our showrooms and see what Ford has done for your comfort, for smartness and beauty. Why not drop in today and see the car that's leading the style parade for 1940!

CLOSED SEASON ON FISH IN 1941

For the first time in history, Alabama will have a closed season on game fish in 1941. The Conservation Advisory Board recommended to Conservation Director Walter B. Jones that the month of April, 1941, be declared closed to game fishing, and the regulation will be signed and promulgated in a few days. The peak of the fish spawning season in Alabama is during the month of April, it was shown.

The board wanted to give the public plenty of time to be notified of the new closed season, therefore, the regulation was not made effective until 1941. Prior to passage of the regulation, Alabama was one of only four states in the union not having a closed season on fish. States surrounding Alabama have closed seasons, and during the time numerous fishermen from other states descend upon Alabama and take fish, it was shown.

Miss Virginia Evans shopped in Birmingham Saturday.

B. P. W. Sponsors Institute For Town Building

The citizens of Montevallo are looking forward with much enthusiasm to the Town Building Institute which the Business and Professional Women's Club is bringing here on April 10 and 11.

The purpose of the institute is to bring together the citizens of the town to talk over all phases of town life—business, taxes, government, and the improvement of social life. The general objective is to make the town a model town. The institute serves to bring the people together in order to create a spirit of unity, cooperation, and understanding, and to relapse haphazard growth with a well-planned program.

Mr. Morrison, director of Holland Magazine's Southern Institute for Town Service, will make a two-day visit to Montevallo and will conduct the institute. There will be opportunity for various interested groups to meet with Mr. Morrison to get his suggestions and advice.

The cooperation of all organizations and citizens of Montevallo is extremely important.

Detailed announcement will be made in next week's Times.

Alabama Products Week Observed All Over State

Montgomery, Ala. — An intensive campaign to expand markets for Alabama products and boost Alabama payrolls is under way in all parts of the state this week as every city, town, and hamlet observes "Alabama Products Week." The observance started Monday and will continue through Saturday.

Throughout the state women's organizations, luncheon clubs and civic groups are holding programs featuring Alabama-made goods. Speeches, menus made up of Alabama food products, window displays, radio programs, newspaper articles, and similar expedients have been utilized to dramatize the benefits of buying Alabama products.

In all these programs stress is being laid on the fact that increased use of Alabama products by Alabamians will provide a vastly increased market for raw materials from Alabama farms, forests and mines, thus providing increased cash income for a large number of Alabamians. Increased activity also will result in more jobs for Alabamians in those plants which process or refine these raw materials.

Preparations for state-wide observance of "Alabama Products Week" were made jointly by the Alabama State Chamber of Commerce and the Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs. Local chairmen were named in every city and town and in some sections school children were enlisted in the campaign and prepared posters for use in store windows and other prominent places.

Included in the work of arranging for the week's observance has been the distribution of thousands of copies of a Retail Buyers' Guide compiled and published by the State Chamber. This guide, which is intended to enable Alabamians to become acquainted with the many products made in this state, lists over 2,000 Alabama-made products. Copies of this booklet are being distributed at many of the special meetings being held during the week.

"Double Door" Is Mystery Drama To Be Produced By Junior Class

Can you put yourself in the place of a little ten-year-old girl who sat in the darkness of Palmer Auditorium Wednesday night, March 27, engrossed in watching the rehearsal of the junior class play, "Double Door?" This little girl was very excited, if the truth be told, almost frightened, by the mystery that was unfolding before her eyes—it was almost more than she could comprehend that a girl whom she knew could be playing so perfectly the part of Victoria Van Bret, who according to this little girl, Mildred Wooten, is "the meanest woman in heavy odds to break the pattern into which he has been so deftly placed by his sister, "Vicky." By his marriage to Anne Darrow, Frances Ward of Birmingham, the beautiful young nurse who brought him back to health, he incurs the wrath of Victoria, who slyly and grimly weaves her web of circumstances to break the spirit of Rip's young bride and thus regain dominance over him.

While Anne summons all her courage to fight this scheming, hard woman, and to keep the love of her husband, things really begin to happen. . . the servants go about quietly under the tension. . . seeing Dr. John Sully, played by Bobbie Brabston, falsely accused of having an affair with Anne; hearing Neff, the family lawyer, played by Mary Ware, pleading with Victoria to be reasonable; and seeing Caroline, petrified by fear of the horrible crime which she suspects Victoria will commit to maintain control over Rip.

The secret of what double door really is, what vital part a valuable string of pearls play, and the hideous truth which lurks hidden in the atmosphere of the somber old Van Bret mansion—all weave a spell which is overpowering and tense.

This same spell under which little Mildred Wooten found herself on the night of dress rehearsal will cast itself upon you on March 29, Friday, 8:15 p.m., Palmer Auditorium. You are urged to discover the secret of Victoria Van Bret, "the meanest woman in the world," in "Double Door."

"DOUBLE DOOR" TICKETS

Tickets for "Double Door," junior class play, Friday night, are 25 cents. They will be sold in town and may be purchased at the ticket office in Palmer Hall on the night of the play.

the world." "Why," Mildred said, "Tippy Swift ought to be ashamed to be so mean."

Yes, Tippy, Irene Swift of Gadsden, a junior speech major, is doing a fine job of making her part as Victoria Van Bret, eldest member of the respected and wealthy family, outstanding for its "mean-ness." Unbelievably hard and scheming is this woman whose whole life has been spent dominating and ruling the lives of her younger sister, Caroline, played by Mary Scott Howell, and her handsome half-brother, Rip, played by Gladys Fuller of New Brockton, puts up a losing fight against

COMMUNITY MEETING

The Youth Week program will close with the regular services Sunday.

Business Women Give Game Party At Masonic Hall

The Masonic Hall last night was the scene of one of the most extraordinary social events which Montevallo has seen in many months. The occasion was the Benefit Game Party sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club for the purpose of raising funds to defray the expenses the Town planning Institute to be held here on April 10 and 11 and to lay the foundation for a later project.

The Game Party, while initiated by the Business and Professional Women, aroused so much interest that it was taken up and promoted by practically the entire town. More than one hundred people, many of whom had never played together before, assembled at the hall and had a hilariously good time.

The original plans included bridge, rummy, and Chinese checkers, but as the number of participants increased, groups got together and planned for tables of good old-fashioned dominoes. Several exclusive-minded gentlemen organized tables for dominoes or bridge.

Cooperation on the part of the merchants in donating prizes was literally 99.6% pure. In all a total of forty-two prizes were presented, and these were generous in nature as well as in number. Eleven of the forty-two prizes were in the form of vouchers for one dollar's worth of merchandise. In other cases, business men gave various items of merchandise representative of their stock. Even traveling salesmen made a few contributions.

High score prizes were given for all games and the remaining prizes were given to those whose admission tickets were not sold.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

At the morning service next Sunday Dr. Irwin T. Sanders, of the sociology department of Alabama College, will speak on the subject, "After Easter in Bulgaria."

The convention will be attended by student representatives from Auburn, University, and other colleges in Alabama.

TO LET PAVING CONTRACT

It is noted with much satisfaction that the state highway department will receive bids April 5 on paving between Calera and Columbiana.

This, we hope, will be the beginning of the end of the Shelby Springs sector which has been a "thorn in the flesh" ever since the other parts of the road were paved over a year ago.

NEW HIGHWAY MARKERS

New metal state highway markers—novel in design, but far more attractive in appearance and significant in detail than the present ones, will soon replace the old route-number indicators in Alabama, it has been announced by State Director Chris J. Sherlock.

Using the black on white color scheme of the U. S. highway routes, the new marker will appear as a 12-inch by 16-inch section of sheet steel, on which is deeply embossed a heavily outlined map of the State of Alabama. Black highway numbers, also heavily embossed, will appear in the center of the map outline.

No abbreviation "Ala" will be necessary on the new design because the state map will indicate the road as a state route instead of a U. S. one. Alabama is the first Southern state to adopt this new road identification style, it is understood.

THE "CUT-OFF" IS GOOD

Otis Bean reports that the Jemison cut-off road is in good shape now, after being practically out of commission during the winter.

Mr. Tatum's crew started work on the road last fall and when the bad weather came it nearly put it out of commission.

We will have a modern, improved graded and graveled road through the cut-off from now on, and lots of people will use it.

TRACTOR DEMONSTRATION

Farmers in this vicinity should attend the demonstration of Allis-Chalmers tractors and other farm machinery at the Burgin farm next Tuesday.

It will be an opportunity to see these machines in actual operation.

Towery Motor Company, local Allis-Chalmers dealers, urge you to attend.

FINNISH RELIEF

The following amount has been received and forwarded to the county treasurer of the Finnish Relief Fund:

Previously reported -----$53.50
Montevallo Bap. Church ----- 4.00

Total -----$57.50

If there are others who desire to make some contribution to this fund, Dr. Pearson or Mr. Wyatt will be glad to receive it and forward it. We are yet far below what we were asked to give.

Community Study

"If a movement for community betterment is ever to come, the educators with a sociological point of view will be the ones to usher it in." That is the conclusion reached by Dr. Irwin T. Sanders of the Alabama College sociology department, in an article published in the March issue of The Journal of Educational Sociology.

His article, entitled "The School Discovers the Community," lays emphasis on the changing conception of what schools are for. He points out that educators are no longer content with the old generalization that they were engaged in "education for life." They now insist more specifically that they are "educating for service to the community." In Dr. Sanders' opinion, "community" is a more concrete term than "life," since for most persons it means a local area with enough characteristics in common to make it an entity.

He treats such aspects as the problem of conditioning a community as leadership, internal cleavages, the boundaries of a community and its structure, explaining that communities may be either over-organized or under-organized. The author has specialized in rural community studies. At present he is engaged in making a survey of Chilton County to determine what natural communities make up the county. His results will be published as a college bulletin later this year. The work is being financed jointly by Alabama College and the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the Department of Agriculture.

Miss Theda Wyatt spent last week end in Tuscaloosa where she attended the A Day festivities of the University of Alabama.

Mrs. Fred Frost, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Frost, Jr., and Miss Myra Frost visited relatives in Columbiana Sunday.

DYNAMITE and ink represent just two of the hundred and two different items, produced in Alabama, purchased by Alabama Power Company during 1939, at a total expenditure of over 1 1/2 million dollars.

These purchases are representative of our policy to buy Alabama-made products for use in the operation of our business, to whatever extent possible, when price and quality are equal.

Every purchase of Alabama-produced goods by Alabama citizens contributes to the welfare of the Alabama men and women engaged in their production. Such purchases mean jobs!

Every Alabama citizen can aid in the development of Alabama by such purchases for daily needs. Among the thousands of Alabama products of good quality which Alabamians can buy at suitable prices are foodstuffs and clothing, furniture and furnaces, paint, pipe and roofing—in fact, almost everything in the way of food, clothing and shelter. Also included in the list of Alabama-produced goods are hundreds of items suitable for use by business, industry and agriculture.

Our policy of purchasing Alabama-made products wherever possible is but another demonstration of our desire to live up to being "a private agency for the public good."

Alabama Products Week

EVERY ALABAMIAN, whether a farmer, industrial worker, retail clerk, or business man, is vitally affected by the welfare of Alabama industry. For industry offers cash markets for the products of Alabama's farms, forests, and mines, thus sending a flow of cash into the pockets of every person who obtains his or her livelihood from the soil as well as providing payrolls for Alabama workers.

THIS WEEK, by proclamation of Governor Frank M. Dixon, Alabamians are observing ALABAMA PRODUCTS WEEK, when every resident of this state is offered an opportunity to make a definite contribution to the upbuilding of his state by using goods made from Alabama raw materials, in Alabama factories, by Alabama workers.

THE BUSINESS FIRMS listed on this page are cooperating during ALABAMA PRODUCTS WEEK and throughout the year by carrying in stock many products made in Alabama. Any of them will be glad to assist you by pointing out such of these products as are Alabama-made. Many of these products are equal or superior to products you have been using and some of them even may be purchased at a saving.

DURING this special week and throughout the year keep in mind that the whole state will prosper in proportion to the prosperity of its industries and agriculture. Be a Buyer of Alabama Products — Be a Builder of Alabama Industry — Be a Booster of Alabama Payrolls.

ABC Liquor Laws

Montgomery, Ala. — Cracking down on a widespread though localized flouting of the State ABC law, the Alabama Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, the moment it was in possession of all the facts, indefinitely suspended Monday, every liquor license outstanding in Phenix City and Russell County. They added up to a total of 20 in all.

The Board's suspension orders were based on reports of investigators acting on complaints in some instances and on their own initiative in others. The 20 licenses were given until 10 a.m. Monday, April 1, to dispose of stocks they now have on hand. After that they cannot sell any more liquor, wine or beer without becoming liable to the rigid penalties prescribed by statute.

Indefinite suspensions were ordered, Col. E. Roy Albright, board chairman said, because of improper conduct by licensees of their respective businesses.

Game Party

sion tickets were drawn from the president's hat.

Excitement grew very tense during the evening as the crowd waited to see whether the ticket good for a trip to the beauty parlor would go to a man and whether a poor pedestrian would draw an alemit job from a local garage.

Refreshments for the evening consisted of a salad plate served by the college Home Economics Club. Many bowls of spring flowers helped to make the rooms attractive.

The committees responsible for the success of the evening were: Arrangements, Mrs. Bessie Merle Elliott, Mrs. Lena Jeter, Miss Ethel Reasoner; tickets, Miss Joyce Kellogg; decorations, Mrs. Annie Jo Brown; prizes, Miss Ethel Reasoner; refreshments, Miss Josephine Eddy; tables and games, Mrs. Jean Hoffman; publicity, Miss Minnie Tracey.

The Business and Professional Women are indebted to the Masons for the use of their rooms, to the business men for the prizes and for their cooperation and enthusiasm, to the Montevallo Times for the publicity which it gave the event, and to all who purchased tickets and thereby assured the success of the Games Party and the undertaking which it is sponsoring.
